

Vermont Ethan Allen Firing Range

Facility and Location

Ethan Allen Firing Range is an 11,000 acre training site located in Jericho. The range consists of a cantonment area and multiple range and training facilities. The cantonment area includes a unit training equipment site maintenance facility, a State Post maintenance facility, buildings and structures to support the Army Mountain Warfare School, a readiness center, and a barracks area. A biathlon training facility is also located at the range. There are multiple firing ranges located throughout the site. The range supports training for National Guard personnel from Vermont and surrounding states.
