WELCOME

REQUEST FOR PRE-PROPOSALS FOR FY2007 LEGACY FUNDING PROGRAM

An official memo is currently being distributed requesting pre-proposals for projects that focus on regional or DoD-wide activities; support the military mission; and emphasize crosscutting conservation projects that support DoD initiatives. Legacy also encourages proposals that demonstrate cost efficiencies, ensure time savings, or exhibit new and innovative ways of doing resource conservation on DoD lands.

NEWS

New Guidance from the Advisory Council

The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation has posted new guidance on its web site to help federal agencies meet their responsibilities under Executive Order 13287 and partner to promote heritage tourism in local communities. The guidance provides recommendations for federal land managers and federal assistance agencies. In addition it highlights innovative initiatives and success stories. The guidance is available at www.achp.gov/ht/ht.html. The ACHP plans to update this guidance periodically with additional examples that recognize successful public/private partnering to promote heritage tourism in local communities. If you would like to contribute information on successful initiatives contact Druscilla Null.

National Conference of State Historic Preservation Officers (NCSHPO)

The April 2006 issue of the NCSHPO News is now available online. Ideas for future issues are always welcome; please email Elizabeth Szufnar your suggestions.

ICOMOS

Last year ICOMOS expanded its International Committee structure number to 28 by approving the establishment of a new International Committee on Military Heritage and Fortifications. The Committee is based in Poland and is chaired by Lidia Klupsz. David Hansen of Seattle was a member of the organizing group that helped conceptualize and convene its first meeting.

Now that this committee is firmly established at the international level, Milagros Flores of North Carolina, also a founding member of the committee, has volunteered to establish a US/ICOMOS working group or a US Specialized Committee to contribute to the overall work plan of its corresponding international committee. It is expected that a large part of that work will be multi-disciplinary in nature in conjunction with other International Committees within the framework of the ICOMOS triennial work plan being developed by the new ICOMOS Scientific Council. Members of US/ICOMOS should contact Milagros Flores for more information or to participate in this committee.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

ARPA CLASS

The Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) presents its Archeological Resources Protection Training Program (ARPTP). This 37 hour class provides training in all aspects of an archeological investigation and subsequent prosecution of the crimes. The class consists of a 12 hour long archaeological crime scene practical exercise where law enforcement officers and archeologists work as a team to investigate and document a crime scene. Attendees will gather physical evidence, write incident reports, executive summaries, damage assessments, and provide testimony in a courtroom scenario.

If you have any questions about the course or wish to schedule a course at your installation, please contact Senior Instructor Charles Louke at 912-280-5188. For course registration please contact Virginia McCleskey at 912-554-4828.

CALL FOR FUNDING SUBMISSIONS

NATIONAL PUBLIC LANDS DAY (NPLD)

PLACE: VARIOUS
DATE: SEPTEMBER 30, 2006
DEADLINE: MAY 31, 2006
AMOUNT: UP TO $6000

NPLD is an annual event held the last Saturday in September that promotes shared stewardship of our nation's public lands. Through a day of volunteering, NPLD helps build a strong conservation ethic among participants. NPLD is also a great way for installation Resource Managers to get much needed support and funds for cultural and natural resource conservation projects. NPLD projects can connect installation personnel with the outside community by working together to conserve cultural and natural resources on DoD lands.

DoD has taken part in NPLD since 1999 with funding supplied by the Legacy Resource Management Program. In 2005, over 1,600 volunteers at 23 installations participated in NPLD projects. For 2006, DoD Resource Managers may apply for up to $6000 in Legacy funding for equipment and materials for an NPLD project. NPLD is coordinated by the National Environmental Education and Training Foundation (NEETF) and applications for event funding are available on the web including a detailed site manual and media kit.

An online application is available at www.npld.com or you may contact Dena Imbergamo at (202) 261-6467 or Dena@neetf.org. Funding is awarded in early July. In addition to the application form, the NEETF/NPLD website also contains a host of helpful tools. While projects involving cultural resources have always been permissible, cultural resource projects will be specifically encouraged for 2006 in light of the 100th Anniversary of the Antiquities Act and the 40th Anniversary of the National Historic Preservation Act. Cultural resources project proposals should include work that can be performed by volunteers on resources that are publicly accessible (on the day of the National Public Lands Day event).

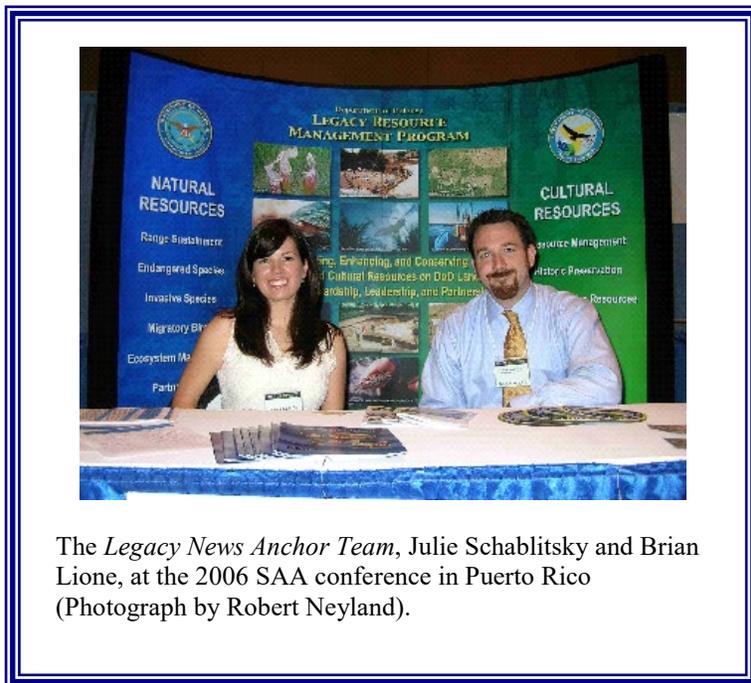

For more information on what type of projects may qualify for funding, contact Jane Mallory, Natural Resources Management Specialist at (703) 604-1774 (Jane.Mallory_ctr@osd.mil) or Julie Schablitsky, Cultural Resources Management Specialist at (703) 604-1724 (Julie.Schablitsky_ctr@osd.mil).

CHANGING OF THE GUARD

The DoD Legacy Resource Management Program - sponsor of the UPDATE - is pleased to introduce their new Cultural Resources Management Specialist.

As of May 1st, 2006, Julie Schablitsky, PhD, RPA, is the new point of contact and program lead for all Legacy Cultural Resources projects, questions, and issues. Julie received her BA in anthropology from the University of Minnesota, her MA in applied anthropology from Oregon State University, and a doctorate in urban studies, with a concentration in archaeology and history, from Portland State University. She has worked at the Oregon Department of Transportation as their archaeological program manager and team leader. Her recent academic and research pursuits are launched from the University of Oregon, Museum of Natural and Cultural History where she has taught and directed excavations on historic-period homesteads, urban sites, and 19th century Chinatowns. Her ongoing personal research includes the Donner Family Camp in California and the excavation of Oregon Chinatowns.

Brian Lione, the former Legacy Cultural Resources Management Specialist, has changed positions within the DoD cultural resources community. Brian now supports the DoD Federal Preservation Officer with technical and policy guidance. We wish Brian well with his new position and duties.

In addition to the Legacy cultural resources duties, Julie will take over creation and distribution of the Cultural Resources UPDATE newsletter. Brian is on-hand to assist Julie with future editions of the UPDATE and other Legacy issues over the coming months.

As always, previous editions of the UPDATE can be found on the web at <https://www.denix.osd.mil/denix/Public/Library/NCR/newsletters.html?fm-culres#cru>.

LEGACY RESOURCE MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

The Legacy program was established by Congress in 1990 to provide financial assistance to DoD to preserve our natural and cultural heritage. The program assists the DoD in protecting and enhancing resources while supporting military readiness. A Legacy project may involve regional ecosystem management initiatives, habitat preservation efforts, historic preservation projects, archaeological investigations, invasive species control, Native American consultations, and/or monitoring and predicting migratory patterns of birds and animals.

See www.dodlegacy.org for more information.
