DoD IN ARIZONA

We Must Train As We Fight

Our troops need to train in settings similar to the real combat environments they will find themselves in. This ensures that when called upon, their fighting skills are second nature.

Luke Air Force Base

Luke is the largest active duty F-16 training base in the world with more than 200 F-16s. The host command, the 56th Fighter Wing is composed of 27 squadrons. Tenant units included the 944th Fighter Wing and the Air Force Reserve. More than 470 pilots and 700 maintenance technicians graduate from Luke annually.

Arizona National Guard

"Always Ready...Always There". The Guard organizes, trains, and equips Arizona's citizen-soldiers/airmen to prepare them for quick mobilization within the state or world-wide. Within DoD, the Guard is unique, servicing both Arizona's Governor and the President in time of need. The Guard is a reflection of its citizen-soldiers/airmen, and contributes to the state through its four major training facilities and 18 armories or similar facilities.

Camp Navajo

Navajo is a National Guard training site and provides depot-level storage services to DoD and civilian customers. The installation's training facility operates at greatly reduced overhead costs through the revenues derived from depot operation.

Camp Florence

Covering over 40 square miles of Lower Sonoran Desert, the Reservation is home to Arizona National Guard's artillery and small arms training ranges. It supports squad, platoon, company, and battalion level tactical training for artillery, aviation, cavalry, engineer, military police, maintenance, signal, transportation and explosive ordnance disposal units. Camp Florence provides the soldiers a location for their weekend and two-week annual training periods.

Marine Corps Air Station Yuma

MCAS Yuma is the Marine Corps premier aviation training facility. With access to over 2.8 million acres of aerial training ranges, MCAS Yuma supports 80% of all Marine Corps aviation training. Approximately 198,000 operations annually make MCAS Yuma the busiest airfield in the Marine Corps, and the 5th busiest in the Department of the Navy.

Western Army Aviation Training Site

The WAATS is a premier training site for attack and aero-scout helicopter training for the US Army. The training site serves active duty, reserve component and Foreign Military customers with simulation support, mobilization support, professional development and individual qualification. In addition to its 120 mile by 60 mile tactical training area, and gunnery operations at Barry M Goldwater Range Complex, the Training Site operates a four lane stagefield near Picacho Peak

Davis-Monthan AFB

Davis-Monthan, located within the city limits of Tucson, has a long tradition of excellence in service to our country. The 355th Wing is the host unit providing medical, logistical, and operational support to all Davis-Monthan units. The 355th trains A-10 and OA-10 pilots and provides close support and forward air control to ground forces worldwide.

Yuma Proving Ground

This multi-purpose installation is capable of testing almost any Army weapon system. At more than 1,300 square miles, the installation's sunny climate, open terrain and excellent range facilities provide nearly perfect testing and training conditions. The Proving Ground also manages testing at the Cold Regions Test Center, Alaska and the Tropic Regions Test Center, Hawaii.

Barry M Goldwater Range

The range consists of 1.9 million acres of relatively undisturbed Sonoran Desert between Yuma and Tucson south of Interstate 8. The complex's 57,000 cubic miles of airspace allows for simultaneous training on nine air-to-ground and two air-to-air ranges. Luke Air Force Base manages the eastern range activities and Marine Corps Air Station Yuma oversees the western range.

Fort Huachuca

The Fort's primary mission is supporting the Army's Military Intelligence Training for the 111th and 112th Military intelligence brigades. Fort Huachuca also supports numerous tenants including the Army's Signal Command, Electronic Proving Ground and the 11th Signal Brigade.
