

HUNTING SAFETY

Many areas open for hunting may contain munitions, as they are or were used for live-fire training. Hunters on a military installation are responsible for knowing where they are at all times and for staying within either their assigned hunting area or the hunt boundaries.

Always use caution when you are hunting on or near an active or former military installation and follow the 3Rs of Explosives Safety:

-  Recognize – when you may have come across a munition and that munitions are dangerous.
-  Retreat – do not approach, touch, move or disturb it, but carefully leave the area.
-  Report – call 911 and advise the police of what you saw and where you saw it.
